on your forthcoming wedding

ABOUT US

We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you on your engagement and thank you for considering the Lochside House Hotel, Lodges and Spa for your wedding celebration.

Tucked away in the Ayrshire countryside Lochside Hotel was originally built in the 19th century as a personal shooting lodge for the Marquis of Bute. Throughout the years it has grown in stature and now offers a majestic and spectacular setting.

The mature landscaped gardens, with the Loch of the Lowes and the Afton hills providing a wonderful backdrop, are perfect for your photographic memories. French doors lead out on to spacious patio areas and a wraparound terrace where breath-taking scenery can be enjoyed late into the evening.

Exchange your vows in front of striking views within the exquisitely designed Glen Caol Suite; boasting floor to ceiling windows, stunning chandeliers and impressive wall mirrored pillars.

Sip Champagne on the banks of the loch celebrating the start of your new life together.

A bride and groom are walking away from the camera on a gravel path in a garden. The bride is wearing a white wedding dress with a long train and a lace back. The groom is wearing a dark green jacket, a kilt, and black knee-high boots. They are holding hands and looking back over their shoulders at each other. The path is bordered by a low stone wall on the right and a grassy area on the left. In the background, there are trees and a building with large windows.
